

As they are in each of the Howe Farms communities, all common areas have been professionally landscaped with evergreens, crepe myrtles and perennials to create a lovely natural setting. The communities include tennis and basketball courts, and playgrounds. Unique street arrangements and careful attention to land development planning afford residents of these properties peaceful seclusion and privacy side by side with the comfort and safety of neighbors nearby and an open environment ideal for outdoor activities and exercise.

Select from a large variety of home designs precisely constructed to meet the needs of you and your family, or choose to build your own plans on one of the select lots still available through The Kicotan Company. Imagine the possibilities - a home to suit the style in which you and your family live and plenty of room for all the options to be included in the place you'll call home.

View the quality work of The Kicotan Company by visiting our website at <http://www.kicotan.com>. All Howe Farms communities participate in a mandatory homeowners association and incorporate architectural controls to ensure the integrity of these fine neighborhoods. Contact Tommy Thompson or Katherine Renn at 757-827-3289 for further information.

The Garden At Howe Farms

Peaceful Living Away From The Hurry Of Nearby City Life

The Garden at Howe Farms is conveniently located to all areas of the city and nearby Langley Air Force Base. From I-64 East, take the Armistead Avenue/Langley Air Force Base exit. Turn left at the bottom of the ramp. Follow to the end, then turn left on King Street. Follow to second light, bear to the right onto Little Back River Road. Take Little Back River Road all the way until it becomes Harris Creek Road. Turn left into Howe Farms at Farm House Road.

